The AI Marketing Playbook for Small Business

100 Copy-Paste Prompts to Get More Customers
on Instagram, WhatsApp & Google

No agency. No marketing degree. Just prompts that work.

2026 EDITION · VERIFIED OCTOBER 2026

About This Playbook

If you run a small business in India — a shop, a service, a studio, a kitchen, a clinic, a boutique, a tuition centre — you already know marketing matters. The problem is not that you do not believe it. The problem is the blank caption box.

You open Instagram, you stare at the screen, and twenty minutes later you have posted nothing. You cannot afford the Rs 20,000-a-month social media manager your competitor has. You are doing everything yourself.

This playbook closes that gap. It gives you 100 ready-to-use AI prompts, each written for an Indian small business, each with empty [BRACKETS] you fill with your own details. You paste a prompt into ChatGPT or Gemini, change the brackets, and get a caption, a broadcast, an ad, or a reply you can use in minutes. Every prompt is grouped by the job you are actually doing that day — posting, messaging, getting reviews, running a festival offer, or closing a sale.

It also gives you the honest setup: which AI tool to use (most start free), what they really cost in rupees in 2026, a 30-day plan, and the safety rules that keep you out of trouble.

How to use it

- Read Chapters 1-3 once. They take fifteen minutes and set up everything else.
- Use the prompts daily. Find the section for the job in front of you and copy the prompt.
- Always edit before you post. The AI writes the first draft; you add the local truth only you know.
- Follow the 30-day plan. It turns the prompts into a habit that actually brings customers.

What makes this different

Generic AI prompt lists are written for American businesses and copied onto Indian pages. Every prompt here assumes an Indian small business: rupee prices, Hinglish where it helps, Indian festivals, WhatsApp as the closing channel, Google Maps as the discovery channel, and customers who trust a local name over a big brand.

This playbook is a business guide, not legal, tax or financial advice. Marketing claims must always be true and honest; never buy or post fake reviews.

The Blank Caption Problem

India is the single largest market in the world for the three apps that matter most to a small business. There were over 500 million Instagram users in India by late 2026, roughly 540 million WhatsApp users, and more than 490 million on Facebook. Your customers are already there, scrolling every day.

At the same time, the businesses serving them are overwhelmingly small. India has more than 7.8 crore registered MSMEs — and the newest government data shows that around 8 in 10 small establishments already use the internet and cashless payments for business. The shift to digital is done. The gap is what to actually say.

Here is the real problem, stated plainly: a small business owner knows their product but not their marketing. They cannot afford an agency. They have no time to learn design or copywriting. So they post randomly, get three likes, and give up.

Why AI changes the maths

Two years ago, the work AI does for you — writing captions, drafting broadcasts, answering reviews, planning a festival campaign — took hours or cost money. Today a free AI account does the first draft in seconds. The skill is no longer writing; it is briefing. If you give the AI your business, your city, your customer and your tone, it writes something you can actually use. If you type "write a caption", you get something nobody will read.

That single insight is the whole playbook. Every one of the 100 prompts that follow is really a good brief, pre-written for you, with the brackets left empty for your details.

The promise of this playbook

By the end you will be able to plan a month of content, write a week of captions, send a WhatsApp broadcast, reply to every review, and launch a festival offer — all in a few hours a week, all on your own, using tools that cost little or nothing.

Chapter 1

The 3-Channel System That Fits a Small Budget

Do not spread yourself thin across six platforms. For almost every Indian small business in 2026, three channels do all the work. Learn them, then let the prompts run them.

1. Instagram — for reach (getting found)

Instagram is where new people discover you. Reels reach far more non-followers than static posts, and the signals that matter most in 2026 are completion rate, saves and shares. Your job here is not to sell on every post; it is to be visible and useful so that when someone needs what you sell, your name is already familiar. Prompts: Section A and B.

2. WhatsApp — for closing (turning interest into an order)

In India, WhatsApp is where the sale actually happens. Message open rates on WhatsApp dwarf email, and Tier 2 and Tier 3 customers trust it more than a website form. Keep a broadcast list of past customers, and use it for updates, offers and reminders — never spam. Prompts: Section C and H.

3. Google Business Profile — for discovery (being found nearby)

When someone searches "[your service] near me", Google shows local results ranked mainly by relevance, distance and prominence — Google's own words. You control relevance (a complete, accurate profile) and prominence (reviews, photos, and consistent name, address and phone everywhere). A claimed, complete profile with steady reviews is free and it compounds. Prompts: Section D and E.

The flow, in one line

Instagram and Google bring strangers in, WhatsApp and good reviews turn them into paying customers, and your festival offers bring them back.

How much time this really takes

Task	Frequency	Time with AI
Plan the week's content	Once a week	30 minutes
Write captions and messages	Once a week	30-45 minutes
Shoot simple photos and Reels	3-4 times a week	10 minutes each
Reply to DMs, reviews and enquiries	Daily	15 minutes
Send one WhatsApp broadcast	Once a week	10 minutes

Total: about three focused hours a week. Batch the writing into one sitting; the prompts are built for exactly that.

Chapter 2

Set Up Your AI in 30 Minutes

You do not need to pay for anything to start. Every prompt in this playbook works on a free AI account. Here is what is genuinely available in India in 2026, in rupees, so you can decide with facts instead of fear.

Tool & plan	India price (2026)	What it is good for
ChatGPT — Free	Rs 0	Captions, broadcasts, replies. The best place to start.
Google Gemini — Free	Rs 0	Same jobs; strong on long text and Google apps.
ChatGPT Go	Rs 399 / month	Higher limits, UPI accepted.
Google AI Plus	Rs 399 / month	Budget paid tier with storage bonus.
ChatGPT Plus	Rs 1,999 / month	Best all-round paid assistant; UPI accepted.
Google AI Pro	Rs 1,950 / month	Cheapest mainstream pro tier; 2 TB storage.
Claude Pro	US$20 (about Rs 1,999 in the iPhone app)	Best for long documents; website bills in dollars.
Canva — Free	Rs 0	Make graphics and Reels covers without a designer.
Meta Business Suite	Rs 0	Schedule Instagram and Facebook posts.
Buffer — Free	Rs 0	Schedule up to 3 channels.

Two offers worth checking before you pay

Jio subscribers: eligible Jio users on an unlimited 5G plan of Rs 349 or more can claim Google AI Pro free for 18 months (normally Rs 1,950 a month), through the MyJio app. If you qualify, claim it before buying any plan.

Students: Google has offered AI Plus free for a year for students, claimable until 31 December 2026. Check eligibility on Google's own page.

Your 30-minute setup

- Step 1 (5 min). Create a free account on ChatGPT or Gemini, whichever you prefer. Either is enough.
- Step 2 (10 min). Write your business brief once and save it in a note. Use this template: "I run [business type] in [city]. My customers are [who]. My best sellers are [items]. My tone is [friendly / premium / playful]. My prices are in rupees. I want more [goal]." Paste it at the start of any chat.
- Step 3 (5 min). Claim or update your Google Business Profile at business.google.com — categories, hours, a 700-character description, and 10 photos.
- Step 4 (10 min). Collect your customer phone numbers into one broadcast list in WhatsApp Business, and set up 3 quick replies.

Prices checked against official India pricing pages and published price trackers, September-October 2026. AI prices change frequently — always confirm on the provider's own page. GST treatment differs by provider; check the total before you pay.

Chapter 3

The Prompt Formula & The 10 Safety Rules

Every good prompt in this playbook has the same five parts. Once you see the pattern, you can write your own for any job.

The 5-part brief

- Who you are: "I run a [business type] in [city]."
- Who it is for: "My customers are [age / area / type]."
- The job: "Write an Instagram caption / a WhatsApp broadcast / an ad."
- The detail: the product, the offer, the price, the date.
- The rules: length, tone, language (English or Hinglish), number of hashtags, and the call to action.

Three habits that make the output usable

- Give it your city and one local detail. "Nagpur" and "our Sunday market crowd" turn generic text into something that sounds like you.
- Ask for options. End a prompt with "give me 3 versions" and pick the best instead of accepting the first.
- Edit the last line yourself. Your call to action should sound like you, not the machine.

The 10 safety rules — do not skip these

- 1. Never publish without reading. AI makes mistakes and invents facts. You are responsible for everything you post.
- 2. Never let it invent a claim. No "No. 1 in the city", no "100% guaranteed", no made-up awards. Only say what is true.
- 3. Never buy or fake reviews. It is against Google's rules and can get your listing suspended. Ask real customers instead.
- 4. Disclose paid partnerships. If you promote another brand, use Instagram's paid-partnership label and follow ASCI's influencer rules.
- 5. Do not share customer data. Never paste a customer's full name, phone or address into an AI chat. Use initials.
- 6. Check prices and dates before you publish. AI can be out of date; verify any number you put in a post.
- 7. Keep health, legal and financial claims factual. If you sell anything with a safety or health angle, use only verified, official information.
- 8. Respect the festival, do not sell through it. Greetings should be warm, not a hard pitch. Keep them respectful and inclusive.
- 9. Follow the platform rules. No misleading offers, no banned content, no engagement-bait that breaks Instagram's guidelines.
- 10. Own your account. Keep your Google Business Profile and passwords under your own control, not an agency's.

Follow these ten and you can use AI fast and safely. The rest of this playbook is the prompts — go to the section for the job in front of you.

Your Weekly Posting Grid

Post four to five times a week. This grid keeps you consistent without burning out, and each slot points to the prompt that fills it.

Day	Format	What to post	Best time (IST)
Monday	Carousel	Teach something useful (prompt A4, A6 or A18).	12-1 PM
Tuesday	Reel	Reach new people with a hook (prompt B1-B10).	8-9 PM
Wednesday	Product	Show one product or service (prompt A1 or A11).	12-1 PM
Thursday	Story series	Build trust with polls and behind-the-scenes (prompt A10, A14).	All day
Friday	Reel	Entertain or relate (prompt A19 or B4).	8-9 PM
Saturday	Proof	Testimonials and reviews (prompt A3 or A15).	11 AM-12 PM
Sunday	Offer / Recap	Soft offer or weekly recap (prompt A12 or A25).	8-9 PM

Batch it, do not do it daily

Set aside one sitting a week (Sunday evening works well). Generate all your captions and messages in that one session, take the photos the next morning, and schedule the week. The prompts are designed to be used back-to-back like this.

If you only do three things this month

- Claim and complete your Google Business Profile — it is free and it compounds.
- Ask every happy customer for a review, every time.
- Send one useful WhatsApp broadcast a week to customers who already know you.

Chapter 6

Measure What Matters

Follower count is vanity. These are the numbers that tell you whether marketing is actually bringing customers. Check them once a month, not every hour.

Number	Where to find it	What it tells you
Enquiries (DMs + WhatsApp chats)	Inbox	The single best sign your content is working.
Saves and shares per post	Instagram post insights	Whether your content is genuinely useful — the strongest reach signal in 2026.
Profile visits from non-followers	Instagram insights	Whether new people are discovering you.
Calls and direction requests	Google Business Profile insights	Whether local search is bringing people to your door.
Review count and rating	Google reviews	Both a ranking factor and a conversion factor.
Cost per enquiry (ads)	Meta Ads Manager	Whether your ad spend is worth it. If a boosted post brings no enquiries, stop it.

A simple monthly review, in five minutes

Paste this into your AI: "Here are my numbers for the month: enquiries [X], best post [describe], worst post [describe], reviews gained [X], ad spend Rs [X] and enquiries from ads [X]. Tell me the 3 things I should do more of next month and 3 things to stop." Then act on it.

Realistic expectations

Organic growth takes three to six months of consistent posting to produce steady enquiries. Paid ads can bring results within weeks if targeted to a small local area. Reviews on Google Maps often start moving rankings within 30 to 60 days in less competitive areas. Be patient and consistent — that beats a burst of activity followed by silence.
